Rome

Stanford Brent. Until 6 Apr. Because Brent is an American painter who often comes to Rome but lives in New York, he can deal with this and other Italian places with a fresh unprejudiced eye. In his oils, arches, cornices, hidden angles and other details bathed in cool light are perceived in a flash, and rendered with sparse but intensely evocative strokes. Bright glimpses of architecture are defined with dashing gesture. The mystery of the interplay of building and outdoor spaces is accented by a fine geometry. Lines, circles, crosses akiller, rendered with a sure hand, are made to merge in a subtle web — the light of the present mingling with memory. Galleria Incontro D'Arte, Via del Vantaggio 17, tel. 3612267.
